Fuzzy analysis on inhabitants' satisfaction and intention of moving out in townscapenbundy district of kanazawa

A study on the spatial concept of dai lue people as defined by their way of spatial recognition and behavior in their dwelling life In the case of man long village in the meng la in xishuangbanna

Spatial units arrangements of the double-income couple from the view point of the individualization.
A basic study on the spatial structure of multi-story housing part 3

The realities and the changes of the elderly's daily living activities in nursing homes

A study on living spaces at the 24hours child day care nursery school (2)

Description of grammar consists in supervisory figures by applying predicate logic concept

Experimental study on perception of spatial volume based on pao

Types of path choice in exhibition space in a museum

Application of non-locally distributed time resource Spatial composition of vacant land enclosed by building volumes A study on spatial composition of contemporary urban vacant land

A study of the various associations supporting life of the old people in an aging and depopulated district

The characteristics of shinsyu-ueda's landscape and townscape from the screens of film works

An analysis procedure of local municipality by using a multi-layered cellular automata

Study on life cycle cost of a resource circulation condominium

Learning effect of interior finishing and building services works A study on housing project interior finishing works part 3

Feature of each zone of copenhagen area on housing condition of elderly people Case study on senior activity centers

The reconstructed hatto of shokoku-ji of 1685

Contents of contract for building hiyamizu church by yousuke tetsukawa

Typology and composition in the modern japanese style residence "kokkan" Roof typology and composition in traditional japanese architecture

On the career of edgar giesenbergs and his contribution to the design of the old ministry of justice building

On the specifications of foundations of masonry buildings in the meiji era

On the changing of front spans and eave's spaces in miao tribe's rural houses of fenghuang xian in china

On a waterwork of the gardens of versailles

A study on the formation of the agglomeration-character in the development of the germaniches museum

On the modern facilities established in the old site of the osaka castle in the early years of meiji

Characteristics of visitors' activities at the urban waterfront area

The characteristics of water-familiarization part 2

ARCHITECTURAL INSTITUTE OF JAPAN