Hierarchical spatial composition of dead end streets for residential environment in the old district
of macao
Toru MATSUDA, Miki KORENAGA and Koji YAGI
A study on transformation of houses and sites caused by long-term dwelling in a detached housing estates Through case studies in seijo residential area, setagaya ward, tokyo
Kajitaka TAKAGI, Toshiro OTSUJI and Atsuko YASUTAKE
The characteristics of the remodeling possibly compared with replacement of detached house
A study on remodeling methods for long life houses
Kyoko TAKAGI
Research on potential reduction of embodied energy by reuse of component over multiple generations of detached houses
Kenzo MATSUMOTO, Kenji NISHIMOTO, Tomomi YASHIRO, Yoshikazu NAKAMURA
Rakuta KIWAHARA and Shih-hung YANG
Study on multiethnic interaction of ethnic minorities in random mixed-use buildings, wanchai, hong kong
Pofung MATSUSHITA, Tetuo YOSHIDA and Junko MUNEMOTO
The case study of living for alz patients and their families as a place for long term convalescent care
Emiko KAMEYA, Minoru KANNO, Kane YAMAMOTO, Yasuaki ONODA and Taiyo SAKAGUCHI
Maintenance management seen from space composition and usage of building in the national universities
Kunihiro SAKURAGI, Hiroshi AIZAWA and Maiko SUGAWARA
An analysis on exhibition use based on the exhibit method and the characteristics of visitors’ behavior
in science museums
Inoue PARK and Yoshihiro HANAZATO
A study on the use of a public hall by regional groups A case study on nagaoka lyric hall
Shinya SATOH and Shozo MOTOSUGI
Architectural space in the 17th century netherlands paintings
Yuji MIWA, Yoshinori NATSUME and Shigeru WAKAYAMA
Calculation method of importance degree by different viewpoint for campus facilities management
Masayuki OKADA, Karahina IKI, Sadayuki SHIMOMON and Yasunobu ONISHI Comparative research on renovation of new town constructed during the mass housing period between the netherlands and japan Analysis of rehabilitation contents and extents with the r-d matrix
Shin MURAKAMI and Norie KAWANO
The composition and decoration of the intermediate parts between vertical and horizontal members
Katsu Hiro WAKAYAMA, Kenichi KATAOKA, Sachiko MIYAJI and eiji LI
Composition of water and architecture seen from the relation between interior space and water
A study on the relation of water and architecture in architectural space
Akiyuki KUROYANAGI and Shinsuke TAMURA
An experimental study of cognitive processing of urban space through the characteristic of learning by wayfinding A case study in the grid network of streets
Tetsuya AKAGI and Ryuta WATANABE
Map element extraction model for pedestrian route guidance map
Toshihiro OSARAGI
An analysis of the population structure in the tokyo metropolitan area in terms of generation balance
Shinsuke FUTSUI and Moriyuki OE Examination of the residents’ evaluations of the effects by the outflow control of rainwater in the shirakawa river basin and waterway trails
Takanori ICHIKAWA and Nobahiro SUZUKI
The construction of the evaluation method of disaster mitigation performance of the road network considered the distribution of passable probability The basic study on the evaluation of disaster mitigation performance of the local area road network based on percolation theory
Yoshio KUGAI and Takashi KATO
Functional and spatial configuration of malls for attracting pedestrian activities Case study on old settlements of tianjin city, china
Hiroaki KITAMURA, Atsushi DEGUCHI, shizen ZHAI and Shigeyuki KUROSE
A study on three-dimensional space structure of shiodome as an urgent urban renewal area in terms of distribution of accessibility
Eiji SATOH and Tohru YOSHIIWA
Study on spread process of toq and iso9000s in the chinese construction industry A comparative study on construction project management between china and japan part 2
Yue LI, Shunzo FURUSAKA and Takashi KANETA
Analysis of the way homeless policies are structured in the usa and uk
Takako HASEGAWA
On the standardization of the member size in mandai-mon, todai ji A study on the standardization of the member size in the daihitsu style part 1
Takahisa SATO
A study on the formation of yasukawa’s residence in the late meiji era A study on the yasukawa’s residence part 2
Yasuaki HIGUMA and Masahiko MIYAMOTO
The significance of the japanese pavilion and its garden in san francisco, panama-pacific international exposition 1915
Masahiro MISHIMA
A study on the kagoshima cotton mill of the satsuma concerning with the background of establishment and structural types Studies on the sumekisan projects from the view of the british merchants
Suzumu MIZUTA
The design of the slate roof of tokyo station Study on the architectural design of tokyo station
Shiro UCHIDA
The drainage system of the bayon complex, angkor thom
Sokuntabyte SO, Takanos NAKAGAWA and Shin-ichi NISHIMOTO
Raumplan by adolf loos and twelve tone composition by arnold schonberg
Hisashi KISAKA and Yuji AGEMATSU
The body culture on housing works of le corbusier in the 1920s A study on the theories of body culture of le corbusier and pierre winter, his collaborator part 2
Masahisa MORIYAMA
A study of spatial use of houses in the okayama district from the viewpoint of initiation ceremonies
and annual events
Seiji NAKAMURA
The urban and architectural space in modern japanese poems Shigeru WAKAYAMA, Kenji NONOBE and Yoshinori NATSUME
On “invenzione” and “disegno” in vincenzo scamozzi’s architectural theory Isamu SHIMOKAWA and Hidekazu SHIRAI