CONTENTS

Symposium: The Diversification of Women’s Work and Life in Japan: An Approach from Geography
KAMIYA H., WAKabayashi, Y. and YUI Y.:
General Consideration .................................................. 129

— Articles —

NAKAZAWA T.: Diversifying Life Courses and Changing Interaction between Work and Home in the Age of Late Marriage .......... 137
KAMO H. and YUI Y.:
Characteristics of Labor Demand on Care Service Industry for Elderly Persons and the Woman’s Employment in Rural Area: A Case Study of the Higashi-Hiroshima City in Hiroshima Prefecture ........................................ 147

THANG L. L., MACLACHLAN E. and GODA M.:
Living in “My Space”: Japanese Working Women in Singapore ......................................................... 156

KINOSHITA R.: The Casual Job Seekers: The Job Search Process of Female High School Leavers ........................................ 172

ITO S.: Job Search of Married Women and Their Personal Networks: A Case Study of Chiba New Town .......................... 180

KAWASE M.: Choice of Workplace and Commuting Among Japanese Metropolitan Suburbanites in Northwestern Chiba Prefecture, Japan ......................................................... 187

YOSHIDA Y.: Gendered Spaces in the Suburbs ........................................ 200

WAKabayashi Y.:
Recent Trends and Regional Differences of Nursery Service Provision in Tokyo Metropolitan Area ............... 210

— General Overview —

KAWAGUCHI T., KAGEYAMA H. and TAKI A.:
Comments ................................................................. 223

Questions and Answers ........................................ 229

KAMIYA, H.:
The Diversification of Women’s Work and Life in Japan: An Approach from Geography “General Overview” ........... 232

Book Review ............................................................. 234

Notes and News ......................................................... 240