「General Medicine」

Aims and Scope of Journal

This Journal is the official peer-reviewed scientific journal of the JAPAN PRIMARY CARE ASSOCIATION. The journal particularly welcomes submissions of original articles relevant to general internal medicine, primary care, family practice, clinical epidemiology, health service research, decision analysis, behavioral science, clinical ethics, psychosocial issues, and medical education. In addition to original articles, the Journal publishes editorials, special articles, review articles, preliminary reports, case reports and letters. The Journal receives submissions from international authors outside Japan.

The Society currently has more than 12,000 members and is the principal primary care society in Asia. This is an English-language journal dealing with the results of research, and activities on primary care and general medicine.

Our review process is swift and, in average, it takes about four months to get published from the time of submission. For reviewers, we actively select prominent experts in a subject area related to submitted article. Moreover, all articles to be published are checked by a native English speaker. We also provide educational sessions about how to write a clinical research article in an annual scientific meeting. This is an English-language journal in Japan dealing with comprehensive medical care.

General Medicine can be accessed in the "Japan Science and Technology Information Aggregator, Electronic" (J-STAGE), developed by Japan Science and Technology Agency (JST, https://www.jstage.jst.go.jp/pub/html/001_en_menu.html)
