Foreword

Takizawa, Shigeo, MA
Inventor and Founder
President and Editor in Chief
International Biophilia Rehabilitation Academy
Professor, Biophilia Institute, the Designated and Registered Institute by the Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology

First, I would like to express my deepest gratitude for the heartfelt messages to organizers, editors and readers on behalf of the International Biophilia Rehabilitation Academy. It is my great pleasure to publish the new journal BIOPHILIA.

The journal BIOPHILIA is an academic journal of the International Biophilia Rehabilitation Academy as a merger journal of the proceedings of the International Biophilia Rehabilitation Conference and the refereed original papers, reviews and reports. The publication aims at establishing the sustainable super-aged society by restructuring the rehabilitation medicine. The other purpose is to divide the previous Biophilia Rehabilitation Journal into two, one in Japanese and the other in English. It has been published with mixing the Japanese and English papers until now by the Biophilia Rehabilitation Academy of Japan. It now will be possible for our worldwide readers who are reading and/or investigating our journal not to become disappointed by finding an article they are interested in reading is only written in Japanese.

We welcome and seek original articles, which are useful for furthering the improvement in welfare of human beings who have gained longevity, are aiming to establish a sustainable, super-aged society and are helping to restructure rehabilitation medicine. Positive participation by one and all having interest in this field is welcomed. The types of articles being sought are illustrated on the following page.

Holding a workshop in your country is another way to participate and has been received with very positive results in every country held thus far. The photographs on the following page are from some of the workshops we’ve held. Moreover, the proceedings of a workshop will be also published by this journal.

Now we all rejoice together for publication of the journal BIOPHILIA enabling fulfillment of our shared purpose.
WORKSHOP “Biophilia 2009 in Cuba,” Presentation to medics from all over Central and South American Countries, at the Latin American School of Medical Sciences.

WORKSHOP “Biophilia 2011 in Romania”, Plural presentations were announced mutually at the University of Medicine and Pharmacy “Carol Davila”

The compliment of the certificate of appreciation by the Romanian ambassador to Japan
References; Examples of the Expected Papers;

Kenji Ushizawa, Shigeo Takizawa A reality and the future of the consumer education to the elderly and with slight dementia, Biophilia Rehabilitation Journal Vol. 3 (2006) No. 1 P 1-8, http://dx.doi.org/10.3774/brj.3.1

The Previous proceedings of the International Biophilia Rehabilitation Conference https://www.jstage.jst.go.jp/browse/ibr