Re: COOPERATION INSIDE BIOPHILIA PROJECT

To Whom It May Concern:

Following the decisions taken during the last IBRC Conference in Geneva it has been established that:

- 1) The next IBRC Conference will be organized thank to the disposability Of Professor Zebrowska in Poland (Ustron);
- 2) The Biophilia workshop will be organized (always thank to the disposability of Professor Zebrowska) in Ustron by the working team of the University of Chieti (Professor Saggini, Professor Bellomo, Professor Barassi and Professor Di Giulio) in collaboration with Professor Zebrowska and Professor Durmala;
- 3) One of the aim of this meeting will be to discuss and analize the results of the multicentric study that will be made by the working team of the Chair of Physical and Rehabilitative Medicine of the University of Chieti, directed by Professor Saggini.

The presidence of the Biophilia Institute is therefore pleased to use these collaborations for the organization of these events, with the aim to create the basis for a focused study of the best methods and approaches regarding the neurological rehabilitation, to decrease the recovery time of the patient and the social costs of the therapy, defining more and more efficient and effective approaches.
