SEIMEI RINRI

JOURNAL OF JAPAN ASSOCIATION FOR BIOETHICS

Contents

Foreword
- Takeshi YORO: The scope of ethics

Articles of Invitation
- Shinichiro MORINAGA: In dubio pro embryone
- Etsuko AKIBA: Dignity of the human embryo
- Nobuo KURATA: Human embryo and dignity of human being
- Sayumi NOJIMA: The responsibility of nursing researcher in research ethics
- Hisao KATOJI: Lack of organ and bioethics

Reports of the 14th Annual Meeting (2002)

[Special Lecture]
- Senjun TAIRA: Ethics Problems on the Research Activity

[Symposium]
- Mutuo HIRO: Reconsideration to the modern rationalistic thought
- Fumio MATUI: What is human dignity?
- Yasuko SHIRAI: Bioethics for Genomic Research Era: Serious concern for overwhelming discrepancy between medical research ethics and medical care ethics
- Katunori KAI: Protection of human subjects as the starting point of bioethics and medical law and "Humannity".
- Koji NANBA: Is human cloning a blasphemy against the dignity of man?

Articles
- Atsushi ASAI, Motoki OHNISHI: Ethical Decision-Making and Virtues in Health Care
- Takashi YAMAMOTO: Reconstruction of environmental ethics centered on Hans Jonas’s theory
- Chioko KURIHARA: The "Note of Clarification" on the Declaration of Helsinki and Japanese guidelines for clinical research

Reports
- Rie HOSOKAWA, Hirohisa IMAI, Kiyoshi MURAOKA, Hiroyuki NAKAO, Hiromasa TSUKINO, Takahiko KATOJI: Comparison of ordinary people, medical doctors and medical students on ethical awareness and value judgments regarding genetic medicine
- Miho MATSUI, Masaki INOUE: Elderly inpatient preference to terminal care
- KaoruKO ATTA: Brain death is a social construct
- Mayumi MAYEDA, Kiyohide FUSHIMI, Kouzou TAKASE, Yujiro TANAKA: Awareness of Clinical Ethics among Resident Physicians

Research Notes
- Yoshisagou WATANABE: A certain Buddhist’s stand toward brain death and organ transplants
- Mari TSURUWAKA, Masahito OKAYASU: On Mr. Yamori’s argument in ‘I Won’t Donate My Organs’
- Yuko NAGAMIZU: The “Life Worth Living” (Ikigai) of the elderly of Japan in perspectives of the narratives
- Shiho HIRATSUKA: Medical neglect cases in the United States
- Toshiaki HAGA: Development of the genetic medicine and a change in the concept of disease and treatment
- Hiroko OOSIBA: Informed consent in dental consultations
- Yukari SENBA: Existence of the diversified type of "Mothers" led by the diffusion of assisted reproductive technology (ART)
- Mayu MIYAZAKI: Countermeasures to the falling birthrate and insurance coverage for infertility treatments: from the perspective of bioethics

Program of the 14th Annual Meeting