Contents

Foreword
Fumimaro TAKAKU : Health care system in our country is in crisis .............................................. 3

Syunsuke SERIZAWA : Death and life of children ........................................................................ 4

Articles
Kaoru KAITA : Withdrawal of mechanical ventilation from brain-dead patients at emergency and critical care facilities in Japan: a qualitative study with physicians .............................................. 11
Mitsushi IWASAKI : Importance of ethnographic approach in bioethics ......................................... 22
Toshihiko DOHZONO : Human dignity and public order in the investigation of surrogacy ................... 30
Satoshi KODAMA : Recent controversies concerning the definition of death in the USA .................... 39
Atsushi TSUCHIYA, Takako OHATA, Maiko WATANABE, Fumio TAKADA : An analysis of the factors determining social attitudes toward genetic enhancement and views of heredity ............................................................................. 47
Taketoshi OKITA : Individuals responding to the message of HIV prevention .................................... 58
Sayuri SAKAI, Michio MIYASAKA : The concepts and ethical issues of hospices and palliative care in Europe ......................................................................................................................... 66
Hisako NAKAO, Masayuki OBAIASHI, Noboru IENAGA, Akiko CHISHAKI : The current status of recognition and solution of ethical problems in hospitals in Japan: from the nursing administrators' point of view ........................................................................ 75

Reports
Masahiro MORIOKA : Proposal for a humanities approach to life: As a new discipline associated with informatics ..................................................................................................................... 83
Mari TSURUWAKA : Study of Hansen's disease in Taiwan: From hearing of patients who had Hansen's disease .............................................................................................................................. 90
Miki FUKUYAMA, Atsushi ASAI, Koichiro ITAI, Seiji BITO : Issues in developing new clinical ethics consultations in Japan .................................................................................................................. 98
Rieko YOKOSE : How to interpret a prenatal diagnosis ........................................................................ 106
Yukari SEMBA : Discussion of legalizing surrogacy: An analysis based on the surrogacy situation in the State of California ........................................................................................................... 118
Koichi HAYASHI : The history and significance of the debate on legislation regarding medically assisted reproduction: the domestic and international situation concerning "posthumous reproduction", "surrogate conception", and "a child's right to know about his/her origins" ...................................................................................................................... 126
Soichiro TODA : Neuroethical perspective on persistent vegetative state: toward a new methodology ................................................................................................................................. 142
Miho TANAKA, Akira KOMATSU : The current state of placebo use in a certain mid-size hospital and consciousness of the nurses. ................................................................................................................. 149
Bunko KIMURA : A Buddhist view tolerating the preparedness of one's own death: With special reference to human dignity and euthanasia ...................................................................................... 158
Hiromichi TAKEUCHI : The role of religion and bioethics: The arrogance of an ethics which disregards the dead .......................................................................................................................... 166
Yoshie YANAGIHARA : Ethical problems triggered by surrogate gestation and delivery .................... 170
Utaka SHIMIZU, Koji DEWA, Haruo YAMANOUCHI : Pre-autopsy informed consent process for bereaved families: A survey of university students' attitudes toward autopsy ........................................................................... 178
Yumiko YAMAMOTO : "Fetal treatment" and "women's self-determination" in prenatal diagnosis: A questionnaire survey of midwives ........................................................................................................ 186

Program of the 19th Annual Meeting .......................................................................................... 203