JAPANESE JOURNAL of EDUCA TIONAL MEDIA RESEARCH

Vol. 9, No. 2
March, 2003

— CONTENTS —

◆Special Original:

NAKANO, Terumi
New Perceptions for Broadcast Education in Japan in terms of its Historical Development .......................... 1

ICHIKAWA, Akira
Journalist Spirit and Participated Works of Broadcasting Educational Programs .................................. 2

SANO, Hirohiko
The Transfiguration of School Broadcasting in the 1980s ................................................................. 11

KIHARA, Toshiyuki
Consideration on the Teacher Training System in Japanese Broadcasting Education .............................. 18

USAMI, Shozo
The Future of Radio and TV Education in Japan: The Importance of Instructional-Materials Production Within NHK ........................................................................................................ 25

DAIKOKU, Takehiko
Media-theoretical and Media-historical Analysis of Broadcast Education .................................................. 31

KIKUE, Kenji
Development of Educational Broadcasting Learning Materials for the Digital Era
— NHK Digital Learning Materials Sample Case — ................................................................. 38

UJIHASHI, Yuji
The School Programs in the Digital and Interactive Circumstance .......................................................... 44

HIBI, Yoshihiko
MINOWA, Takashi

ASAI, Kazuyuki
The Direction of Education TV Programs should be in Digitization Era .................................................. 50

TERASHIMA, Kosuke
KAMEI, Mihoko
KUBOTA, Kenichi

◆Original Research:

KAMEI, Mihoko
YOKOTA, Masami

Instructional Design with Digital Video Clips about Japanese History in Elementary Schools ....................... 61

◆Utilization Research:

WAKUI, Shiro
IIIDA, Yukiyasu
KAWASHIMA, Norimichi
KYO, Shuney
MINAMI, Kazutomo

Live Video Transmission of Surgery Between Japan and Germany at Multi-Locations via ISDN (384kbps)
— Exploring the Practical Implementation of Collaborative Tele-Medical Education — ........................ 67

◆Reports on the 2002 Annual Meeting: ..................................................................................... 87

Edited and Published by the Japan Association for Educational Media Study