Clay Science Society of Japan

Membership in the Clay Science Society of Japan is open to persons interested in the fields of clay science in its widest aspect. Application for membership should be addressed to the Clay Science Society of Japan, Miyazawa Building 601, Iwamoto Cho 1-6-7, Chiyoda Ward, Tokyo 101-0032, Japan. Annual membership fee is ¥7,000 (yen) including subscription to Clay Science and Nendo Kagaku.

President
K. Okada, Tokyo Institute of Technology

Vice-President
A. Inoue, Chiba University
K. Kuroda, Waseda University

Councillors

N. Iyi, National Institute of Materials Science
M. Ito, Kumime Industries Corporation
A. Inoue, Chiba University
S. Uehara, Kyushu University
M. Uehara, Railway Technical Research Institute
M. Ogawa, Waseda University
M. Kawano, Kagoshima University
K. Kuroda, Waseda University
N. Kohyama, Toyo University
T. Kogure, The University of Tokyo
T. Sato, Hokkaido University
H. Sato, The University of Tokyo
M. Jige, Chiba Institute of Science
K. Suzuki, Nagoya University
M. Suzuki, National Institute of Advanced Industrial Science and Technology
K. Tamura, National Institute of Advanced Industrial Science and Technology
Y. Tokashiki, University of The Ryukyus
S. Tomura, National Institute of Advanced Industrial Science and Technology
E. Narita, Iwate University
S. Nishihama, Shiseido Corporation
T. Hatta, Japan International Research Center for Agricultural Science
T. Hibino, National Institute of Advanced Industrial Science and Technology
Y. Fukushima, Toyota Central R&D Laboratories
N. Matsue, Ehime University
R. Miyawaki, National Museum of Nature and Science
A. Yamazaki, Waseda University

Editorial Board of Clay Science

Editor in Chief; E. Narita, (Iwate University)

Associate Editors;
S. Aisawa (Iwate University),
H. Hashizume (National Institute for Materials Science),
N. Iyi (National Institute for Materials Science),
T. Kawachi (University of Shiga Prefecture),
M. Nanzyo (Tohoku University),
A. Yamazaki (Waseda University)