GPS 連動型放射線自動計測システム KURAMA/KURAMA-II の開発

谷垣 実

(138 頁をご覧ください)

Fig. 5 A typical example of measurement data displayed on Google Earth. The position and the air dose rate of each measurement point is represented as a colored dots, and detailed information is displayed by clicking the respective dot.

Fig. 9 The result of the first carborne survey measurement conducted by MEXT in June 2011.

Fig. 10 A typical example of carborne survey in residential areas conducted by Fukushima prefectural government in September, 2011.

Fig. 13 The information distribution system developed by JAEA. Data from the local buses are stored, analyzed in the system, then released on a web site.