Symposium;
Reexamination of Policy-Making Processes in Recent Legislations and Policies on Criminal Justice: Based on the Idea of Evidence-Based Policy

Setsuo Miyazawa: Composition and Background of the Symposium........................................4
Yuji Shirosita: Raising the Statutory Penalty Limits and Legislative Policy...................................7
Jun Ayukawa: The Revisions of Juvenile Law and Evidence-Based-Policy....................................20
Ko Shikata: Evidence Based Policy in Planning Community Safety Policy....................................33
Shoji Imahuku: The Role of Evidence in Policy-Making.................................................................48
Anthony Petrosino: Randomized Field Trials in Evidence-Based Criminal Justice: A Briefing...........56
Anthony Petrosino: D.A.R.E. and Scientific Evidence: A 20 Year History......................................72

Discussants
Hiroshi Tsutomi: What Evidence-Based Policy Can Do.................................................................89
Yasuyuki Sakai: Significance and Problems of EBP: From the Standpoint of Jurisprudence...............94

Articles
Takeshi Okabe and Juichi Kobayashi: Violent Juvenile Crime in Japan........................................102
Hideyuki Hiraoka: Re-considering Criminalization and Medicalization of Methamphetamine Use: Focusing on Social Interventions at "Interaction Level"................................................119
Isao Yamamoto: Does a Part-Time Job Act as a Social Bond to Prevent Juvenile Delinquency?........138

Research Trends
Yutaka Harada: Recent Trends in Geographic Crime Analysis......................................................151
Shigeru Oyama: Uses of HLM and IRT in Criminology...............................................................156

ISSN 0386-460X