Journal of the Japanese Society of Pediatric Surgeons
Volume 38, Number 7, December 2002.

CONTENTS

For the Future of Pediatric Surgery: Our Experience in Pre- and Postgraduate Education Program ............................................ Shigeru Ueno, et al. ................................................... 987
What Are the Important Problems in the Diminution of Would-be Pediatric Surgeons? .............................................................. Hideo Yoshida, et al. ................................................... 998
Suggestion to Japanese Pediatric Surgeons Based on Questionnaire Analysis of Pediatric Surgical Clinics in University Hospitals in Japan ................................................................. Michio Kaneko ................................................... 1005
A Proposal for the Future of Pediatric Surgeons in Japan: The Opinions of Pediatric Surgeons in a Private Medical College ................................................................. Munechika Wakisaka, et al. ................................................... 1010
My Proposal for Future Pediatric Surgery in Japan ............................................. Tatsuo Kuroda ................................................... 1015
What Should Be Advanced in Pediatric Surgery in the Future?
— "The Road to Making the Complete Children's Doctor" — .................. Eisuke Ohashi ................................................... 1020
Pediatric Surgery, A Glamorous Term to Me ........................................... Gohei Ochi ................................................... 1027
Computer-based Patient Record System and Pediatric Surgery ............ Akinari Hirata, et al. ................................................... 1032
Perspectives and Proposal on International Support in Pediatric Surgery ................................................................. Toshihiro Muraji ................................................... 1040
A Proposal From a Full-time Pediatric Urologist ........................................ Kenji Shimada ................................................... 1044
Fecal Continence After Posterior Sagittal Anorectoplasty in Imperforate Anus ................................................................. Yasuaki Yoshino, et al. ................................................... 1046
Optimal Management of Ovarian Cysts Presenting in the Neonate and Patients Over 1-Year-Old ................................................................. Michihiro Sugai, et al. ................................................... 1052
Partial Splenic Embolization for Hypersplenism Associated With Biliary Atresia ................................................................. Yasuhiro Ohtsuka, et al. ................................................... 1057
Laparoscopic Fenestration for Omental Cysts in Children .......... Toru Ichikawa ................................................... 1064
A Case of Mayer-Rokitansky-Küster-Hauser Syndrome Discovered During Repair of Anorectal Malformation ............................................. Masayuki Obatake, et al. ................................................... 1069
Cryptogenic Progenic Liver Abscess in a Small Infant ......................... Minoru Iwasaki, et al. ................................................... 1074
Infected Piriform Sinus Fistula and Cyst in a Neonate ......................... Tetsuo Hori, et al. ................................................... 1080
Spontaneous Resolution of Fetal Adrenal Cyst ............................... Masahiro Kawasaki, et al. ................................................... 1092

NII-Electronic Library Service